The request that Georgia Tech he given a place on the Blue schedule was accompanied by a suggestion that a Yale game with Tech would be as interesting an event as Centre's game with Harvard. The Tech delegation also claimed that its victory over Centre has given it first place around Southern colleges.

The Yale schedule is likely to be settled within a fortnight, and it is understood that Georgia Tech may have a place if Boston College is not given a game. At Yale it is thought that the latter will not be on next season's schedule.

The spectacle of a world's lightweight champion defending his title in a fifteen round bout to a decision will warm the hearts of the old timers, who had been saddened by the long, lean years of no-decision hippodromes and fiascos. Tound in London. The fight between Erne and Gans in this city, which was won by Erne in twelve rounds, left behind it a very bad odor. There was a filles that went to the post in the five strong suspicion that the negro had faked. This suspicion was made all the stronger when, on May 12, 1902, Gans knocked out Erne at Fort Erie with one punch. It was the shortest championship fight on record.

Now more than the seventeenth a hig gap to be third.

It is proposible to be the hardest one punch. It was the shortest championship fight on record.

Now, more than twenty years after the suspicious looking meeting of Erne and Gans, we find a new sort of champion, rated by many as the greatest who ever held the title in that class, again defending the honors which came to Lavigne in London in a decision fight.

Plenty of Room for Wrestling Here, Too

Last night's wrestling bout marked the first serious attempt on the part the grappling game to take the field as a competitor of decision boxing in this city. The turnout for the Lewis-Zbyszko bout was very encouraging to the wrestling promoters. But the real test for wrestling is yet to come. Boxing has hardly got its warmup.
